

HART Summer Update 2025

HART MEMBERSHIP 2025-6

As we reach the end of another school year, we want to thank all the HART members for continuing to support the alliance and for the collaboration between like-minded schools that is at the heart of HART. Thank you also for providing feedback about what you value and what you would like more of in our annual survey. The message that rang out loud and clear from this was that you want more of the same! So, in response, the 2025-6 membership programme will continue to offer insights on changing Ofsted expectations, curriculum updates and support materials, documents, materials and templates to support leadership monitoring and opportunities for shared practice development.

We appreciate schools' budgets are under great pressure and so we are once again holding membership and CPD events at last year's prices, and we're offering the same discount for early payment. Full details about prices and the booking link are in the box (right).

SIGN UP

HART membership for 2025-6 will remain at £300 for small schools/federations and £450 for large schools.

This entitles you to attend five HART leadership meetings for FREE, plus staff can attend high-quality online CPD at a reduced membership rate.

A prompt payment reduction of 10% will be applied when renewals are paid by Friday 14th September 2025.

HART OFFER 2025-6

HART members meetings

Our five HART leadership meetings will continue to be free for HART members. The meetings provide invaluable updates on learning and leadership research and provide a wide range of bespoke documents to support schools' self-evaluation.

In addition, schools receive support materials and videos of teaching approaches, plus the meetings provide regular OFSTED updates.

HART PRIMARY CURRICULUM QUALITY MARK

Establishing a coherent, connected, and effective curriculum across all areas is challenging for all schools and requires a huge commitment from the school team. Primary schools can access more personalised curriculum support through HART's collaborative programme: Primary Curriculum Quality Mark.

The PCQM was launched in September 2024. This award recognises schools for delivering a well-connected, ambitious curriculum that supports strong pupil recall, fluency, and personal development across all subjects and age groups.

The importance of making curriculum connections is at the heart of PCQM; the programme begins with guidance on establishing your curriculum vision, values and ethos and then focuses on the different key stages starting in early years. The programme provides an introductory session in September, and three recorded online training sessions during the programme, offering guidance to schools on building a precise and embedded connected curriculum.

The PCQM provides a portal for participants to access the programme's CPD, videos, key documents and the PCQM final self-evaluation assessment audit materials. The theme is making connections; building essential foundations from early years and there are five self-evaluation documentation documents that form schools' main evidence for the PCQM award. The PCQM will also identify areas for further improvement. The quality mark will provide external validation of your strong primary curriculum, and, on accreditation, you will receive the PCQM Quality Mark logo that can be displayed on your school's documentation and website. The accreditation will last for two years before renewal.

The programme includes:

- CPD sessions linked to the materials on the PCQM portal at each stage.
- Self-auditing and monitoring tools
- PCQM self-evaluation templates.
- A half-day moderation visit by your school's Curriculum Support Adviser.

Cost: HART members £400; Non-members £500
